MTC votes to back permanent BART sales tax

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The Bay Area wide Metropolitan Transportation Commission yesterday agreed to back yet-to-be introduced legislation that would extend permanently the half-cent sales tax increment charged in the three county Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

They also will support the sale of up to $15 million in BART revenue bonds in anticipation of funds from the sales tax increment. The bonds would be used to underwrite operating costs in the financially plagued transit system.

Since the sales tax bill has yet to be introduced in the State Legislature, the MTC move is considered a "hunting license" issued to legislators and transit officials who want to provide BART with a permanent operating subsidy.

If the legislation follows MTC guidelines, it will allow the commission to allocate up to 65 percent of revenue from the half-cent tax to BART for operating costs. The remaining 35 percent would go to AC Transit and the San Francisco Municipal Railway.

The MTC currently holds those powers under legislation passed in 1975. That bill imposed the current half-cent sales tax in BART counties and allows the district to raise $82.2 million for operating revenues. The goal should be reached by October, 1977.

The MTC also wants a minimum of 10 percent of those funds issued through it to go toward increasing non-peak hour transit use, reliability, and innovative management or operating techniques. The rule would apply equally to BART, AC and the San Francisco Muni.

Taking a page from State Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post's searing critique of BART issued late last year, the commission wants fares increased periodically so that by 1980 they produce 40 percent of operating costs.

But the commission also wants to reserve the right to rescind that goal if it is found to be "counter productive."

Again in agreement with Post, MTC wants to keep a closer eye on BART's finances, operation and management. Extra staff required to "look more closely over BART's shoulder," as one spokesman put it, will be paid for through Transportation Development Act (TDA) and Urban Mass Transit Administration (UMTA) funds.

The eight-point resolution passed yesterday also backs a move for legislation that would allow non-BART counties to impose a half cent sales tax increment to finance transportation systems of their own.

The counties, particularly those in the north bay, would have to decide for themselves how to implement such legislation — either through voter referendum or through action by boards of supervisors — and what type of transportation systems would be developed.

MTC would control 65 percent of those revenues as well.

Assemblyman Victor Calvo (D - Mt. View) purportedly is willing to sponsor the legislative package. He sits on the Assembly Transportation Committee that last week passed a Senate bill authorizing the allocation of gas tax revenues for mass transportation systems.

Legislators from the three BART counties reportedly are leary of introducing the permanent half-cent sales tax measure.

BART officials in the past have said they wanted new half-cent sales tax legislation that would give them all revenues, not just the 65 percent administered by the MTC.

Under yesterday's resolution, the MTC staff will open talks with Bay Area transit officials and legislators. Any proposed legislation must be introduced in Sacramento by mid April. — by Ron Rodriguez

Rob Alves to run for supervisor

A former Valley newspaperman will become the fourth announced candidate for the First Supervisorial District today when Robert "Rob" Alves enters that race.

Currently the administrative assistant for Supervisor Charles Santana, Alves was at one time the legislative aide for Assemblyman Carlos Bee. He is also a former reporter with the Herald and News and the Independent in Livermore.

Alves is 30, and rates himself a "fiscal conservative of the Jerry Brown mold." He says confidently that "if I can win one of the two spots in the June primary, I will beat Murphy in November."

John D. Murphy is the incumbent supervisor who already faces challenges from Valerie Raymond of Livermore and Irene Vincent, a resident of Fremont.

Murphy is a long - time resident of Pleasanton who recently announced his intention to move to Fremont. The First Supervisorial District vote is evenly divided between Fremont - Newark at the west end, and Livermore - Pleasanton - Dublin on this side of the hills.

Sewer allocation

Hyde says BASSA brawl 'tempest in a teapot'

DUBLIN — Valley reaction to a $15.2 million allocation for sewerage facilities in the unincorporated areas of the valley is a "tempest in a teapot," according to Bay Area Sewage Services Agency board member Ronald Hyde.

Hyde is also president of Valley Community Services District and a delegate to the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency.

At the request of BASSA staff personnelz the project was included on the Regional Water Quality Control Board's 10-year project list for Bay Area facilities.

The $15.2 million figure was an estimate made by BASSA staff of what it might cost in the future to build a sewer treatment plant to handle areas currently using septic tanks.

Hyde said officials had overreacted, giving credibility to what he termed "New Town paranoia."

"This was no secret," said Hyde. "It is just one of 37 projects that are on the list."

He said BASSA's basin plan included 37 target areas, only three of which are located in Alameda County.

"This comes out of a long - standing plan adopted as a package by the BASSA board," said Hyde.

"The clean up of these septic tanks has been mandated by State and Federal water resources acts," he said.

Inclusion of the $15.2 million project, Hyde continued, was authorized as part of a progression of steps to clean up water basin.

"The list assigns priorities for projects," said Hyde, "and getting a project on the list qualifies it for funds further down the line."

He explained it did not mean the monies had been granted, or that the project had been approved.

Hyde dismissed suggestions the project was an attempt to provide sewer facilities for Harlan Geldermann's New Town.

"It's more knee-jerk paranoia," Hyde concluded.

No disciplinary action due in LLL misuse investigation

LIVERMORE — No disciplinary action will be taken against the two dozen Lawrence Livermore Laboratory employes who misused government materials, equipment, and time.

That decision was made by LLL director Roger Batzel after a two week investigation of infractions committed by workers in the Mechanical Fabrications shop.

Workers in the shop were told of Batzel's decision at a meeting Tuesday afternoon by Associate Director Henry McDonald. He informed the employes that the situation would be discussed privately with approximately 24 employes found to have misused government property.

A LLL spokesman said the discussions were "appropriate action" for the infractions, and that LLL would henceforth consider the matter closed.

But Bruce Tolbert, business manager of Local 1276 of the Laborers International Union of North America, AFL - CIO, the union that represents employes in the shop, had a different interpretation.

"The infractions were so minor," said Tolbert, "that no disciplinary action was necessary."

A search by security officials at the lab on Feb. 11 uncovered a variety of items in 38 locations including belt buckles, a trailer hitch, knives, fishing line sinkers, and small automobile parts.

The lab subsequently interviewed more than 30 suspected violators, and with employes present searched the homes of five workers.

Tolbert said the union and the lab would meet next week to negotiate taking the employes' statements out of their personnel files.

He said the union hoped to secure written assurance for each employe that he would not be criminally prosecuted.

Individual employes in the shop have filed complaints with Governor Brown, Assemblyman Mori, and the California State Employes Association. But Tolbert said further action by the union on behalf of the employes depends on the outcome of next week's negotiations.

"I think the lab is making an honest effort to resolve the problem," said Tolbert, "so we want to wait until we see what they will do about the personnel files."

As a result of this incident, a lab spokesman said the nearly 6,000 LLL employes will be receiving a memo calling attention to the rules and regulations governing use of government materials, equipment and time.

Wife killer enters plea of guilty

OAKLAND — William Charles Lamont Tuesday pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the Aug. 13 shotgun killing of his wife in her Livermore home.

Lamont's lawyer, public defender Leonard Ulfelder, attempted to have the suspected murder weapon ruled inadmissible as evidence. After a Superior Court judge ruled the 12-gauge shotgun could be introduced as evidence by the prosecution, Lamont changed his plea from innocent to guilty.

Superior Judge Hugh S. Koford ordered Lamont to return March 16 at 9 a.m. for sentencing.

Helen Ferrell Lamont, a secretary at the Lawrence Livermore Lab, was killed with a single shotgun blast to the head Aug. 13. Her two daughters found the body in the bedroom of Mrs. Lamont's 5222 Norma Way apartment several hours later.

Neighbors reported hearing a loud argument before the incident, and one witness said he saw a man with a shotgun standing in the doorway of the apartment.

Mrs. Lamont, 36, a secretary in the nuclear testing division of LLL, was pronounced dead at the scene.

The next day after the slaying, Nevada Highway Patrolmen arrested William Lamont as he was driving out of Winnemucca. He was charged with drunk driving and possession of a loaded weapon — a 12-gauge shotgun.

He waived extradition and was returned to Livermore two days later. Lamont asked Judge William Gale to skip the preliminary hearing and send the matter directly to Superior Court, but was refused.

A preliminary hearing Dec. 3 to determine if enoughevidence existed to bring Lamont to trial was closed to the public for fear that excessive pre - trial publicity would interfere with a fair hearing.

The 50 - year - old unemployed furniture salesman will remain at the maximum security facility in Oakland to await the March 16 sentencing. — by Bill Cauble

Man killed in car crash

LIVERMORE — A 39 - year - old Pleasanton man was killed when his car went out of control and slammed into a telephone pole on Stanley Boulevard early yesterday.

Leo Alfonso Tafoya of 4117 Cristobal Way was pronounced dead on arrival at Valley Memorial Hospital. No cause of death was listed pending an autopsy by the coroner.

A California Hihghway Patrol spokesman said Tafoya was travelling westbound on Stanley Boulevard in his 1975 Chevrolet about 12:15 a.m. yesterday when the car went off the roadway and sheared off a telephone pole. The CHP spokesman said there were no skidmarks, indicating Tafoya may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Tafoya was manager at the Valley Inn Hofbrau on First Street in Livermore, and belonged to the Elk's Lodge there.

Candidates discuss Murray School Board issues

Candidates for the Murray School District board of trustees are heading into the home stretch of their respective campaigns with two more candidates night scheduled between now and next Tuesday.

The Donlon Parent - Faculty Club will hosts tonight candidates and bond issue presentations starting at 7:30 p.m. in C Pod. Donlon is located on Dorman Road in the Val Vista section of Pleasanton.

There were indications yesterday that tonight's session could turn into a rouser as a segment of Donlon parents are concerned about what schools seventh and eighth graders might attend in the future (Wells or the intermediate school proposed for the Dolan site) and what high school graduating eighth graders might go to (Foothill or Dublin).

The Times has also learned there may have been some problems in the past as regards the district's bond monies remaining from the 1972 election, the interest accruing on same and the county general fund.

The subject is touched on by two of the three candidates whose responses to questions worked up by The Times appears today.

The questions are the very same ones responded to by Harrietta Dahlin, Eugene Hinton and Linda Jeffery in yesterday's edition. Responses carried today are those of Art Laursen, Dr. Harry Overline and Dawn Rutter.

The questions and Laursen's responses are as follows:

1) What, if any, weak points exist in the programs and instructional materials available to Murray students. What steps would you suggest to correct any deficiencies?

According to the results of the state tests, we are not capitalizing on the very fine start the children are getting in the lower grades. I feel confident that the district will be able to correct this problem by applying some of the knowledge and techniques gained from the early childhood education program. There is a plethora of educational gadgetry available, all of which is touted as assuring spectacular results in the classrooms that use it. There simply will never be sufficient money in the Murray budget to satisfy all the requests from the teachers. It goes without saying that each child must be provided with a book and as much supplemental material as the budget can support. I believe that this is the situation in the Murray School District now.

2) How can communications be improved between teachers, classified, administration, board and citizens?

A lot is said about improving communications between all of the parties engaged in the education process. I am of the opinion that I have always done my share in this regard by being a listener. When two parties are trying to talk at the same time nothing is accomplished; but, what is more important, I discovered that by listening to the other side's arguments mine often fell apart. I also discovered that on some occasions the other party was forced to see the fallacy of their arguments when those arguments were being presented to an unresisting listener. My contribution to improving communications would be to listen intently to each and every person that wished to be heard. I would also continue to take an active part in various community activities so as to be available to as many district voters as possible.

3) Why, in your opinion, must the bonds be approved?

I am a convert to the K-6, 7-8 system. When the district decided to adopt this plan, I felt the K-8 system was a good one because that was the system I was familiar with. After studying the philosophy of the intermediate school and becoming aware of the many advantages, I became its most ardent supporter.

If the bond election fails it will mean going to makeshift arrangements to keep as much of the program as possible intact. A makeshift program will only lead to problems and the students will never have an opportunity to reap the maximum benefits that can be derived from attending a well - designed intermediate school. If we are truly dedicated to providing our youth with an education that will enable them to take their places as productive citizens then I don't feel we should consider sending them to makeshift schools in order to trim a few cents off of our tax bills.

4) Explain what the district's role should be as regards the VCSD and use of school facilities for recreation?

The district's role in regards to VCSD and the use of school facilities for recreation should be one of complete cooperation. Every effort should be made to coordinate field maintenance, etc., between the two agencies so that maximum benefit is obtained from the tax dollar. It is shameful waste of tax money to support two separate grounds keeping departments. If it were possible, I would favor the entire recreation program coming under the jurisdiction of the school district.

Candidates discuss Murray issues. . .

5) Is the district doing a competent job of handling all money matters, including leftover bond monies and awareness of the country general fund?

The answer to this question may very well be "no." Although the auditors have not cited the district for any laxness in this regard, an interested taxpayer, who I understand is a competing auditor, has raised some interesting questions pertaining to how the district has handled the unused bond monies in the past. There is to be a meeting between all interested parties this week, and perhaps after that meeting we will be more enlightened on this very important topic. I am sure that all board members will be reading the Fremont School District report entitled, "If It Can Happen It Will," in any case.

6) What do you believe are your strong points that best suit you to sit on the Murray board and work with district staff?

One obvious strong point is my proven record. One doesn't have to wonder how I will perform as I have a good solid record of performance behind me. Another strong point is my experience working for a private school that receives no support from any State or Federal funds. I am keenly aware of the high costs of education and constantly seeking ways to achieve results while keeping costs down.

I would like to conclude by saying I feel that the time and effort I have put into preparation for collective bargaining, not to mention the training and experience I have received, would make me a valuable asset to the board. Three of the four present members are newcomers and to add a fourth fledgling would seriously weaken the board at a time when experience and proven ability are sorely needed.

Following are the responses to the same six questions, in order, as turned in by Dr. Harry Overline.

1) The most significant weak point in Murray's instructional program is the comparatively low scores for grades 4, 5 and 6 on the State Department of Education's achievement tests. The school administration is aware of this weakness and has initiated a "resource teacher" program in several schools this winter. They are currently exploring ways to continue and expand the programs next fall.

To remediate this weakness, as well as others, I would recommend that the district explore the myriad sources of federal and state funding. Money is currently available for innovative programs in special education as well as regular education. There is a clear need for the Murray School Board to establish this as one of their priorities.

2) Murray, as a result of the Rodda Bill (collective bargaining), has a unique opportunity to establish and sustain obtimum communications among the various components of the school community (i.e., board, teachers, students and citizens). At the same time, however, there is the potential for collective bargaining to increase the currently existing suspicious attitudes, and adversary relationships among the school community groups. If elected, I would support the initiation of a coalition (board, students, teachers and citizens) to begin a continuing dialogue on signficant educational issues.

3) After exploring the issue in depth, I support the school bond issue. There is a clear and substantial need for both components of the new junior high school. After several years of little or no construction, new houses are currently being planned or built in several locations within the Murray School District boundaries. If the bond issue is turned down, the board has tentative plans to continue coming back to the voters until it is approved. Each month of waiting for approval and eventual construction results in significantly higher costs as a result of inflation.

4) VCSD reimburses the Murray district for utilization of playing fields during the summer. However, there is currently no reimbursement policy for VCSD's use of school playing fields during the school year. Representatives of both groups met recently to address the question of reimbursement for the school year. No solutions were found at this first meeting.

It is my position that VCSD should pay some amount, agreeable to both groups, to the Murray district for utilizing the fields during the school year.

5) In my opinion the district is doing a competent job of handling financial matters. At a recent meeting on the school bond issue, a question was raised regarding where unspent funds (from the last successful bond election) were being kept. The questioner was concerned with whether or not the funds were drawing interest for the district. Phillip Chubb, district business manager, answered that the bond funds are currently drawing interest in the county interest redemption fund, and that the interest is currently being used to reduce taxes. In spite of this answer, which I found satisfactory, the question continues to be raised. If the district were permitted to invest the money in a secure and higher interest yielding account, I would support such a move.

6) I have been working with parents, students, administrators, teachers and school boards for approximately 10 years. I have either authored or been involved in implementing federal and state innovative educational projects for delinquent and neglected children, children with learning disabilities, handicapped individuals and in - service education. I am presently an associate professor of child psychology at Cal State Hayward.

The following responses to the same six questions, in order, were turned in by Dawn Rutter.

1) Less play equipment and more work equipment in the classroom is what is needed. Libraries with film strips for children to play with is ridiculous when we need to stress reading as a basic skill that the children need to develop.

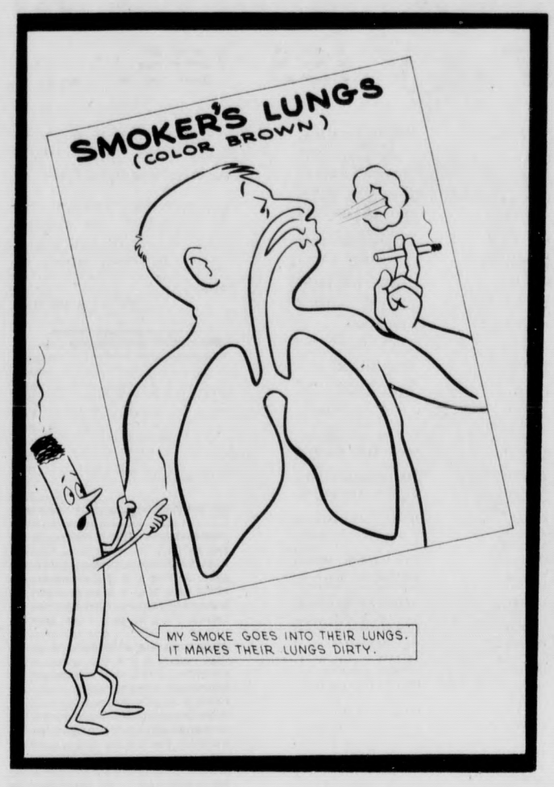
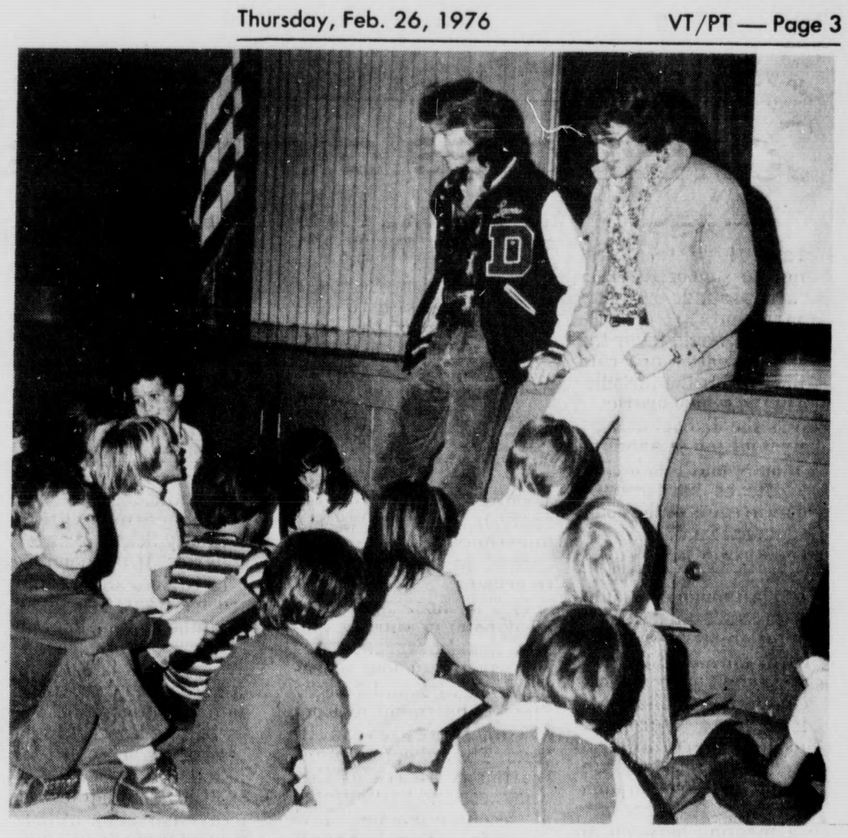
Julie Schweser and Jeanne Castillo, Dublin High students, hold Murray School third and fourth graders in rapt attention as they discuss the hazards of smoking.





Lane Boespflog and Mark Woy answer questions about their reasons for not smoking during one of their "rap sessions" with the elementary school children following cancer movie.

The secret is "don't start"

To smoke or not to smoke

BY REINA WHITNEY

As most parents have no doubt come to realize, it does no good to tell a young child that cancer is one of man's most dreaded diseases; or that next to heart disease, is the leading cause of death. A twelve - year - old watching his hero "Kojak" light up another cigarette and puff it in a relaxed, glamorous gesture, could care less that the risk of lung cancer is 20 times greater in heavy smokers than in non-smokers.

There isn't a corner near any of our local high schools that isn't filled with clusters of teenagers puffing just one more before class, between class or after class. It's such a common sight that some of us look at them with mild amusement at how young they make themselves look. But, it occurs to very few of us that they are breaking a law that prohibits a person under the age of 18 from smoking, or possibly risking their lives. Any 9- or 10-year-old can plunk his quarters, dimes and nickles into a public cigarette machine and it's an unusual attendant that will take the trouble to run them off or stop them. Some of the high schools have even instituted "smoking areas" to accommodate the students.

It is such a matter of growing concern that the National PTA has printed material stating "his first cigarette may be a matter of life and death." Spurred into action against teenage smoking by the overwhelming evidence that there is no longer any doubt that cigarette smoking kills and disables, they say they owe it to our children's future health and long life to do everything possible to prevent them from starting to smoke. "Theirs must be the new, smokeless generation," says the PTA.

The Cancer Society in the Dublin area have taken up the banner in a most positive way. Under the guidance of their Education Chairman, Mary Ladner, they weekly sponsor a series of movies and talks to children in the Murray School District from the first to the sixth grades. Therein lies the secret they feel — to discourage that first cigarette. According to one of their pamphlets: "The smoker who takes up the habit before 20 smokes more cigarettes, inhales more deeply, and is more likely to be disabled or killed by them."

With the aid of twelve members of the Executive Council of Dublin High School, representing the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes, under the direction of Dublin High teacher Mr. John Willoughby, they go out every Wednesday at one o'clock. We saw them at the Murray School as they talked to a group of over 100 third and fourth grade youngsters. What terrific ammunition they presented!

After the children saw the movie, "The Huffless, Puffless Dragon," they broke into small "rap session" groups to speak to the older teens about the hazards of smoking. The attitude of the children was one of rapt attention. They were all eager to tell of their experiences which, at this age, mostly consisted of "Everything in our house smells like smoke — Yecchh!" or, "My dad's breath smells bad."

Mr. Willoughby says the program has met with such success because the younger children do respond to the older "kid" so well. They tend to look up to the high-schooler and will listen to what they have to say; more so than to an adult. He feels if they can even prevent one child from smoking, they will have been successful.

The High School students were impressive in the courtesy and respect with which they treated their young charges. Most of them came from classes after school, giving of their own time and happy to be doing something positive for their community. They were: David Alvarez, Larry Alvarez, Lane Boespflog, Tom Burke, Kimber Lundy, Carrie Trent, Ralph Leon, Mike Quinonez, Jeanne Castillo, Laura Garski, Mark Woy and Julie Schweser.

After the movie and talk all the children are given a coloring book, "The Story of a Cigarette." The older children receive a comic book, "Where There's Smoke." They both basically plead the same theme. They acknowledge that children often follow the pattern of their parents in smoking. They approach the child with intellegence and describe smoking as the health menace it is. They admit how difficult it is is to stop once you've started. The secret is "Don't Start!"

Variety of jobs await volunteers

The American Cancer Society has a variety of volunteer jobs open to people who want to help the society in its aim to "wipe out cancer in your lifetime," Frances Osborne, vice-president of the ACS Contra Costa unit, said today.

Mrs. Osborne lives on Easy Street in Alamo but speaks for all Contra Costa communities, from El Cerrito to Antioch, San Ramon to Martinez.

Some of the different volunteer spots open include public education posts to help save the two of every four persons who die needlessly of cancer today, she said. These include distributing cancer information, operating film projectors, staffing educational booths and promoting educational programs in your own hometown.

Service and rehabilitation volunteer needs include drivers to transport cancer patients from their homes to treatment centers; for often a cancer patient requires radiation treatments daily for up to six weeks.

"Other service jobs include speaking at organizations so that more people know how they can be helped in time of need or telephoning patients," the chairman of volunteer training offered.

Helping in the upcoming cancer crusade by canvassing your neighborhood leaving latest cancer facts and gathering contributions for ongoing research is an important job needing volunteers now in each of Contra Costa's counties, she said.

The cancer society benefit shop, "Touch of Class" in Walnut Creek also will welcome volunteers to help sort, price and sell "gently-used" clothing and household items also to contribute these things when cleaning out their closets, Osborne added. Volunteers may sign up now by calling the ACS at 934-7640 in Walnut Creek or at 525-6801 in El Cerrito.

Men volunteers are particularly valuable in contacting business people in the upcoming crusade, or in informing business and industry employee groups of the combined health agencies drive deduction plan wherein employees may choose the charity of their choice of 13 different national health organizations, according to the ACS spokesperson.

Then there is office work for qualified office volunteers. These jobs include typing, handling mail, or helping with memorials made by local citizens honoring members of their families or friends who have become victims of cancer.

Cancer not "adult disease"

Though often thought of as an "adult disease," cancer kills more children under 15 in the United States than any other disease, according to Robert W. Blue, M.D., Martinez, Professional Education Chairman of the American Cancer Society's Contra Costa Unit.

Fortunately, cancer in children is relatively rare, striking only one in about 8,000 young persons, he adds. "Yet 35,000 children will die of cancer in 1976."

While an adult can rely on regular checkups and the seven warning signals of cancer to help protect him or herself, with a child cancer may be difficult to recognize, "since symptoms of malignancies may masquerade as trivial disorders," Dr. Blue points out.

"Parents can play a major role by telling their pediatrician about any striking changes in their child's physical behavior or growth patterns," he said "As in cancer that strikes adults, the earlier treatment begins, the better the chance for cure," Dr. Blue stressed.

The most common childhood cancers attack such areas as the blood, brain, nervous system and kidneys, and because a child is in a state of rapid growth, the cancers often grow fast too, the physician pointed out.

One of the brighter spots for the future is the amount of money the American Cancer Society and others are pumping into research to find the causes and cures for leukemia and other childhood cancers. In 1975 the Society gave more than $3 million in grants for study of these mysteries.

Dr. Blue invites all parents to contact the ACS for free pamphlets. "Cancer in Children" and "Leukemia" at Walnut Creek offices at 1341 E. Newell Ave., or at El Cerrito offices at 10290 San Pablo Ave.

Look Younger in the Face of Winter

You can look older sooner than you think. As early as your twenties, your natural moisture and oil supply decreases, leaving your skin vulnerable. Winter, with its chill weather, harsh winds and indoor heat can quickly dry your skin, making you look older . . . no matter what your age. Take a close look in the mirror. Is that really how you want your skin to look?

Now discover the secret of a mysterious beauty fluid, a secret shared by knowledgeable women of all ages in many parts of the world, who look their youngest no matter what the season. This beauty fluid, with its wealth of pure moisture and tropical oils, is known in the United States as Oil of Olay beauty lotion.

Oil of Olay works hand-in-hand with nature to ease away the dryness that can too easily make you look older too soon. The beauty fluid penetrates your skin's surface deeply and astonishingly quickly. And there's never,ever,a greasy afterfeel. The beauty fluid works almost exactly like your own natural moisture to soothe away dryness. And it helps maintain the oil-moisture balance of your skin, essential if it's to look as young and glowing as possible.

Watch as your skin virtually drinks in Oil of Olay. Within moments your complexion grows noticeably softer and smoother, so you can look your youngest, whatever your age. Soothe on Oil of Olay every single morning. It's marvelous under makeup or, if you choose to go bare-faced, it provides a moist environment for your skin. Again every single night, to work beautifully during hours of sleep. And whenever else a feeling of dryness tells you that the moisture content of your skin should be increased.

Enjoy the winter weather . . . the skiing, sledding, all the fun the season has to offer. Just be sure to let your skin enjoy the benefits of Oil of Olay. You will find the mysterious beauty fluid at your drugstore.

Winter Beauty Secret

In this weather, your skin can scarcely get enough Oil of Olay®. Carry it with you in your purse or tote bag, so you'll never be caught without its help.

Viva Mexico!

Lisa Estrada and Mike Sweeney look over brochures describing the intinerary they'll take as part of a valley high school student group going to Mexico during Easter vacation. On the wall are pictures of some of the famous Mexican points of interest they'll visit. Students leave San Francisco via Western Airlines on April 10 and will spend four days in Mexico City and four days in Acapulco. Sixteen Amador and two Foothill students have signed up to date. Bob Athenour, language instructor at Amador Valley High, will be group leader for the third consecutive year. Valley high school students interested in visiting Mexico should contact Athenour at Athenour-Macchi Travel, 846-3597. There are openings for five or six more students.

Santos road to be locked

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Santos Ranch Road, once dubbed a "goat trail" up the eastern slope of Pleasanton Ridge, will be locked, but not abandoned, the board of supervisors decided yesterday.

The board unanimously agreed to install a lockable gate at the foot of the steep, mile long incline. They apparently are split 3-2 over whether or not to abandon the road.

Director of public works Herb Crowle was ordered to contact owners of property along the road and draw up acceptable plans for the locked gate.

Supervisors Fred Cooper and Joseph Bort both favor abandoning the road once it has been locked. Cooper would give up everything above the gate, while Bort wants to abandon the gate as well as the road above it.

Abandonment would make the property owners responsible for maintenance.

According to valley supervisor John Murphy, the road requires some $2,000 a year in maintenance costs by the county, and "that will fall once the gate is up."

Said Bort: "That's too much for two people."

Last week Pleasanton Ridge residents Tom Pishos and Sheldon Berz convinced the rest of the board that abandonment would present an undue hardship on them for maintenance of the road.

"You could give them a little consideration," said Murphy to Cooper.

"We did," piped back the board chairman.

"Well, than maybe more than just a little," retorted Murphy.

Crowle also was ordered to bring abandonment back before the board in one year.

The board then will assess maintenance costs to the county incurred while the road has been locked.

Pleasanton City Councilman Roger McLain also addressed the board yesterday, saying the city has no position on abandoning the property.

NIGHT TIMES
VALLEY PLEASANTON TIMES
DUBLIN-SAN RAMON PLEASANTON-LIVERMORE

Sunol restaurant re-opens

The Sunol Valley Golf Club announces the re-opening of its popular dining rooms for breakfast, lunch and dinner, plus banquet facilities for 700. Mike Cerletti, former owner of the 7 Sails restaurant in Cupertino and the Main Sail in San Jose, is the restaurant's new manager. The Pavilion Room is now open for breakfast and lunch, and not only overlooks the beautiful 36-hole golf course, but is filled with greenery itself. The Coronado Room, a popular spot for proms and wedding receptions with a capacity of 700, will feature the big band sounds of J.D. Franks and his orchestra Saturday for listening and dancing pleasure. Another popular feature is the Sunday Champagne Brunch in the Mediterranean Room, which is open for dining nightly. The golf course and restaurant is located at the corner of Interstate 680 and Andrade Road in Sunol.

Two new diners

PLEASANTON — Jack-in-the-Box and Kentucky Fried Chicken fast food franchises will open new restaurants in the Valley Plaza Shopping Center soon.

Buildings for both establishments are nearly complete, and the new restaurants are expected to open during early March. The shopping center is located at the corner of Valley Avenue and Santa Rita Road in Pleasanton.

Ink Spots to appear at Harvey's

LAKE TAHOE — Stanley Morgan's famous Ink Spots will be appearing in the Theatre Lounge of Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe throumy March 14.

Also on stage will be The Ann Murphie Affair through March 14, and Larry Lee and the Rascals through March 16.

Opening in the Lounge on March 9 is Faith O'Hara and the Cannonball Express through March 23.

The Bill Page Orchestra will appear in the Tiki Lounge at the Top of the Wheel through March 15.

Seldom does a "pop" entertainment group sparkle with the overall class and versatility as the Ann Murphie Affair. The group features Ann's fine voice and the talented reed solos of Dan Murphy.

Playing sax, flute, clarinet, trombone, and bass (not always one at a time Dan could easily steal the show from a less talented cast of performers.

But the energy and vitality of leader Ann, along with the fine keyboard artistry and vocal of Bill Hanlon and the skill of Jerry Todo on guitar maintain a able balance.

The combination of instruments and voices makes for a fantastic package of musical entertainment in everything from light rock to country western ballads.

Ann hails from New Zealand and is an attractive blond with a voice to match.

Alice in Wonderland

The Amador Valley High School dramatists will present "Alice in Wonderland" tonight at 7:30 in the school auditorium. Marie Cornez, shown here stroking the Cheshire Cat (as played by John Creamer), plays Alice. Yearning for a little bit of attention from Alice is the Griffin (played by Greg Arnett). The Mock Turtle, played by Linda May, is at right. Performances are also scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon at 1:30. Times Photo

Meet the cast

Pleasanton Playhouse production approaches

Tickets are now on sale at the Pleasanton Recreation Department and Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce for Don't Drink The Water, which debuts at Sunol Valley Country Club Friday, March 5 at 8:30 p.m.

Prices are $3 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens. A discount price is being offered for groups of 20 or more.

Play dates at Sunol are March 5, 6, 12 and 13. Curtain time each night is 8:30.

Lead roles in the Woody Allen farce being directed by Cliff Beyer are taken by Virginia Gregory, Gil Stratton, Larry Kaher, Carol Wolfgram, Nick DiScala, Bruce Pruett and Terri Avery.

Virginia Gregory is well known to valley community theater followers.

"Dramatics is a great way to get to know your community," enthuses Virginia , who'll play Marian, the housewife from "Joyzie" in the Pleasanton Playhouse's Dont' Drink The Water.

Virginia is a community playhouse's dream come true.

Associated with Cask and Lask Players since its inception almost 20 years ago, she has developed a large and loyal following who admire her stage versatility and dedication tthe betterment of community theater.

Her last role was that of a gypsy in the revered theatrical vehicle that is Skin of Our Teeth. Her "favorite role" was that of Edward Albee's grandmother, which she played three times, in The jamerican Dream and The Sand Box.

She reminds that the role is a lively one "because Albee provides for that in recreating the part."

Virginia's first-ever role was that of "momma" in a Cask and Mask production of You Can't Take It With You at Livermore High School.

She has served on the board of directors of the venerable valley theatrical group and has played numerous roles over the years on the May School stage as well as Livermore and Granada.

With the May School stage a thing of the past, she is hopeful the Chabot-Valley Campus will someday have a little theater. She has had discussions with Dean Barbara Mertes of the Valley Campus in this regard and it is entirely possible valley theater-goers may have a college-community auditorium in the next decade.

GIL STRATTON is another veteran of community theater who first became interested in performing while stationed in Wurzberg, Germany with the U.S. Army.

He took a part in Lilly, the Felon's Daughter and followed that with a portrayal in Bell, Book and Candle — also while in the military.

Gil's last role before coming to the Pleasanton Playhouse was in Skin of Our Teeth for Cask and Mask and Granada Players. He previously was seen by playhouse fans as the Russian constable in the well-received production of Fiddler On The Roof.

He also played in Fiddler while with the Hayward Area Recreation Department Players. All told, Gil, who plays Father Drobney in Don't Drink The Water, has been associated with more than 30 community theater productions.

He is employed by the County Health Department as a sanitarian.

LARRY KAHER is a relative newcomer to community theater. Associated with IBM in Oakland, he is fulfilling long-held desire to act.

He played the padre in Man of LaMancha for Pleasanton Playhouse and was also in Celebration.

Larry grew up in San Bruno and attended Capuchino High School. He later enrolled at College of San Mateo.

In Don't Drink The Water, Larry plays Walter Hollander, a caterer from New Jersey on vacation in Europe. It is a particularly difficult role for someone so new to the stage, but rehearsals have shown that Larry is adapting quite well and should give a stellar performance come curtain time on March 5.

Young ERIC MARTIN is doing some sketching and drawing which playhouse followers will see when they attend the show at Sunol Valley Country Club.

A 14-year old freshman at Foothill High School, Eric is drawing sketches of each of the characters in the play for the program and show cards.

He has had a semester of art at Foothill and hones his skills with practice sessions outdoors and when he has free time at home.

Theatre-goers will be amazed by this young man's skills, which will be a fitting complement to the Pleasanton Playhouse production set for the unique new theater arena at Sunol Valley Country Club.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Back in the early '30s the late Lewis Osborne ran an April Fool one session duplicate. He made up all the hands himself and it was understood that the players had to play what they were dealt and that anything went.

The hand in the box was one of the simplest he produced. At every table but one, West played and made seven spades. It didn't matter how he bid it, but no one ever doubled him. At the table where South managed to play seven hearts, the bidding went as shown in the box except that East decided to be brilliant first and made an insufficient bid of three diamonds before bidding seven diamonds. This barred his partner and South got to play his heart suit.

Incidentally if you want to produce four 13-card suits just take a new deck. Give it exactly two perfect shuffles, cut and deal. If your shuffles were perfect you will have this ultimate freak hand.

Ask the Jacobys

An Oregonian asks: "How often would you expect four 13 card suits to appear as the result of a normal deal."

We might see one tomorrow, but if everyone in the world played bridge steadily from now until the crack of doom, the chances are that not one would appear as the result of a normal deal.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Dons win championship

According to rules the EBAL basketball trophy can't be retired just because Amador Valley High kept it for the third straight year with a 79-16 season-ending triumph last night over Foothill.

That doesn't mean the Dons are ever going to relinguish it however.

Finalizing the championship in a waltz, Amador was able to showcase some of the underclassmen who will attempt to make it four straight in 1977.

Not until the veterans left behind some fond memories in their final home court appearance.

Seniors Mike Hill and Nick Jigliotti scored 15 points apiece, and Rob Yackley had 14. One of the youngsters, junior Dave Van Norden, contributed 10.

Steve Sperber had 10 for the Falcons.

Next year's addition took the court for Amador midway through the second quarter. Four juniors were brought into the lineup, Dave Van Norden, John Sevo, Don Hall, and Chris DePrater. Another man who will figure big in next year's plans, Jim Yackley, had already played much of the first two quarters.

The young Dons took advantage of their opportunity to play together by hitting five straight shots late in the second quarter.

They opened up a 40-8 lead at intermission.

One player who won't be around when Amador chases down a fourth consecutive championship, Nick Jigliotti, joined with the four juniors in the second quarter spree.

Jigliotti, in his final appearance at Amador, rifled home 10 of the Dons' 25 second quarter points.

The 6-2 forward poured two follow-up shots in after offensive rebounds and connected on six free throws in six tries.

Hill, Amador's trigger man through most of the championship season, collected 11 points at halftime. Rob Yackley had six.

From the start it was apparent Amador wasn't taking its championship for granted. Even though the Dons stripped the nets last Friday night when they clinched a title tie by topping San Ramon, 53-41.

Amador dusted off its zone press and forced Foothill into 10 turnovers for the first two quarters. The offense, meanwhile, continued to focus in near the basket for high percentage shots.

The Dons probed the key with Hill and Rob Yackley with great success, started a ploy they three games ago after a loss to Granada.

Once again it worked to perfection. Yackley slid along the pivot and collected crisp passes from the wings. Hill penetrated on drives, and as a result, Amador hit a healthy 14 for 28 from the field in the first half.

The harried Falcons attempted to slow down their own offense with a wide spread. They were forced to shoot from outside, however and hit just four of 16 shots before halftime.

Mats beat Gaels

Granada High ran up a string of 18 unanswered points in the third and fourth quarters as the Matadors went on to crush Dublin, 80-47 in an EBAL basketball finale last night on the winners' court.

The Matadors, who will probably play in the Livermore City Classic in March, but still hold hopes for a North Coast at-large berth, closed the season at 12-2 in EBAL action and 19-3 overall, while the Gaels finished at 6-8 in league play.

Granada's Mike Fracisco led all scorers with 19 points while John Walden continued his consistent play by scoring 16 markers for the Mats.

The Matadors, despite playing with only faint hopes of a title shot, put together one of their best quarters of the season in the opening stanza.

Utilizing a tight zone defense, the Mats forced Dublin to turn the ball over nine times in the first quarter alone. Scott Campbell accounted for nearly half of that total, collecting four steals and scoring 10 points for the Matadors.

The Gaels, forced to shoot from the outside, converted just two of 15 field goal attempts in the initial period, as the Mats ran up a 17-1 lead late in the quarter.

The Gaels, first field goal did not come until Kory Porter hit a jumper with 1:08 to play.

Dublin kept pace with Granada in the second period, as unheralded Rich Barnes accounted for seven of the Gaels' 17 points. Porter hit a jumper with 1:08 to play.

Both teams turned cold in the quarter, as the Mats shot just 24 percent, but still maintained a solid 38-22 halftime lead. The Gaels, plagued by poor shooting all season, connected on just seven of 37 field goal attempts in the first half for a dismal 19 percent shooting clip.

Pokes topple Grizzlies

In a pre-determined game, Livermore roughed up California, 82-67 last night in San Ramon.

Leading the affair, was Ted Wood of Livermore. The future St. Mary's Gael hit on 28 points while Curt Groth and Mark McCreary each had 16. Tim Jenkins had 11. California, meanwhile, was paced by Craig Kline with 25 points. Keith Carlson had 14.

In a game which had little or no meaning except for the record, Livermore played as if there were no battle plan, just a typical end-of-the-year ballgame.

In brief, it was a destructive match. The lead never changed hands at all. Livermore, employing a scrappy, inbound press, caused California to turn the ball over 15 times in the first half. Livermore then went on to hit on 15 of 33 in the first half for a 38-29 edge.

California down by as many as 15 with two minutes remaining in the half, cut it to nine by way of two Craig Cline lay-ins, and a Dan Nelson jumper.

Unfortunately for California, the Grizzlies' flagging board game caused their departure in favor of Livermore.

Wood, who left midway through the first half with 10 points, played like a college player, dishing off seven assists to inside men Bob Frost and Curt Groth. California was 13 of 29 in the first half and could not buy a bucket until being down by 6-0.

By that time, however, this one had been settled.

Wolves top Stangs

A fourth-quarter explosion by guard Ed Aitken enabled the San Ramon Wolves to hold off Monte Vista High, 65-61, and avenge their early - season loss to the rival Mustangs last night in Alamo.

Aitken scored 11 points in the final quarter, all but four on free throws, to negate Monte Vista's highest scoring quarter.

Surprisingly, the Wolves led for most of the game; going ahead, 28-27 with 1:13 left in the first half on a double pump jumper by Brad Blake.

San Ramon's biggest lead, eight points, came with just under six minutes to play and seemed to bring the Mustangs to life. Monte Vista outscored the Wolves 12-6 over the next four minutes to draw within two, 57-55.

Bob Devincenzi, Walt Finn and Kevin Jones each scored a pair of hoops during the comeback.

But two free throws each by Aitken and Jim Hogeboom iced the victory for the Wolves.

Hogeboom scored 25 points and grabbed eight rebounds to lead the Wolves in both categories. Jeff Kennedy also had eight rebounds while Fritz Venker chipped in 10 points.

Blake had five assists.

Devincenzi scored 14 for Monte Vista while Jones added 13. Lance Blanshei had 10 rebounds.

Girls' basketball

Mustangs breeze

Monte Vista, this year's EAL girls basketball champion, boosted its record to 12-1 as the Mustangs downed a struggling San Ramon club, 46-35, in Danville Tuesday night.

The Mustangs will attempt to avenge an earlier 50-46 loss to Livermore as the Cowboys travel to Danville tonight for the final game of the season. The game, billed as a toss-up, will see Livermore pitting offensive stars Peggy Baker and Patty Shirley and quick - handed defensive standout Lynette White against Monte Vista's potent threesome of Linda Silva, Carol Dolsby and Laura Fumagalli.

Cowboy coach Diane Statle is optimistic, saying, "I think we're ready. We're coming off four straight wins and this is our last game." "We beat 'em once — we can do it again," she added.

Livermore, with a 9-4 mark and tied with Amador and Granada for second place, will capture the second spot with a win over Monte Vista.

San Ramon trailed by only one point, 16-15, at halftime, but the Mustangs came storming back in the third period as Carol Dolsby and Linda Silva reeled off six points each to help give the champs a comfortable 36-19 margin going into the final period.

The Wolves, paced by Nancy Kerlinger's six points, rallied in the final quarter, outscoring the hosts 15-10, but it was too late to pull off an upset.

Livermore played a lay-up game with California as the Cowboys trounced the Grizzlies, 54-39.

Livermore jumped out to an early 6-0 lead before Cal's Marcie Smith found the bucket midway through the first frame, but the Pokes remained undaunted as talented senior Baker raced the length of the court four times, exploding for eight of her 16 point total.

Baker's cohort and fellow senior White took care of the defensive end of the court as she stole several passes and slapped away a few more.

White, Baker and Shirley combined for eight assists and an equal number of hoops to give the hosts a 20-6 advantage at the end of the first period. Cowboy mentor Statle cleared her bench in the second and third quarters, but in the final quarter put back in what a spectator called "her big guns" as scrappy California, sparked by Smith's six straight points, pulled to within seven, 37-30, early in the period.

The Pokes stifled any of San Ramon's upset hopes as Ann Wondolowski canned two buckets and a pair of free throws while Baker added two more baskets and White chipped in two points to wrap un the win.

Statle praised senior Margaret Johnson and junior forward Janice Paxiao for an outstanding defensive effort, commenting, "Our strong defense did it. Janice did an excellent job rebounding as did Margaret. This was Margaret's last home game and she played really well at the forward position."

Johnson picked off 11 rebounds, while Wondolowski followed with 10, and Paxiao, seven.

Wondolowski complimented Baker's performance with 14, and Shirley added 12. Marcie Smith led the loser's attack with 16 points, while P.J. Moore chipped in 14, and Patricia Dulick, nine.

Granada, behind double figure performances of Sheryl Common, Cheryl Wood and Lynn Bousliman, handed a stubborn Dublin team a 43-41 defeat.

Dublin, hampered by the loss of star center Joanne Callender, who is out with torn ligaments in her right ankle, managed to knot the score at 10-10 at the end of the first period.

CC coaches picked

Charlie Tourville, Northern California high school coach of the year, and Roger Leonard, who enjoyed a Cinderella season at Northgate High, have been named co - coaches for the Contra Costa County football team which meets the graduated seniors of Alameda County Aug. 14 in the annual Cerebral Palsy All-Star benefit.

The game will be played at Diablo Valley College.

Tourville was honored as the top prep coach in the region after guiding Alhambra to the Foothill Athletic League title, the North Coast Section championship, and an undefeated season.

He has been head coach of the Bulldog football team for 11 seasons.

He has been head coach at Northgate since 1974. Last season, the school's first as a varsity football team, Leonard led Northgate to a 6-3 record, and a second place finish in the rugged Diablo Valley Athletic League.

Where is sportsmanship?

By JANELLE POWERS

Earlier this season Monte Vista High's championship girls basketball team whipped young Foothill, 69-27. The Mustang starters played every quarter of the game.

Livermore visited the Falcon gym last week and left with an 85-31 triumph, and a new school scoring record.

"I played my subs," coach Diane Statle pointed out, although the Cowboy starting five also played in every quarter. At halftime Livermore led, 66-20.

Dublin, following a 46-44 loss to Monte Vista last Thursday night, refused to congratulate the winning team.

Incidents such as these have raised questions like that of Foothill coach Vicki Dolsby; "Where has sportsmanship gone?" Good sportsmanship is slipping away quickly in the EBAL. More technical fouls are being called. Rivalries become more vicious than ever.

Who knows what the players think when the coach stalks onto the court, incurring the referee's wrath, and perhaps costing the team points in the process.

Being a good winner is just as important as being a good loser. Why jack up the score by forty or fifty points when the opposing school carries an 0-10 record and has failed to score more than 30 in any game? Why not let the kids on the bench play out the game instead of persisting with the regulars.

The questions are being asked with increased regularity lately. Coaches have the answers.

Air Force senior tight end John Covington of Fullerton, Calif., also competes on the Falcon track team as a shot putter during the indoor season and as a discus tosser outdoors.

Tax tips on child expenses

Do you pay for child care while you work to support your family?

If so, your child-care expenses are probably deductible. But watch out — the state and federal governments have different rules and both require canceled checks or other documentation to prove you actually paid out the money.

Also, having a babysitter come to your home makes you an employer, liable for paying social security and other taxes for your sitter. So send the kids to the sitter's home and avoid that problem.

No two laws are alike when it comes to child care. For example:

- If family income is over $12,000 a year, the state reduces the deduction allowed for child care. The federal limit is $18,000.
- You're not allowed to claim an expenditure of more than $150 a month for one child, $225 for two, $275 for three, when figuring your state return. However, the federal limits are $200 for one child, $300 for two, $400 for three or more.
- If you send your child to a private grade school, the Feds will accept it as a deduction but the state won't.
- When your child gets to be 13, the state will no longer deduct child-care expenses. The Feds wait til he's 15.
- If you're responsible for a child not officially qualifying as a dependent, and pay child care for him so you can work, state will allow the expense for a deduction, the Feds won't.

Taxpayers are reminded that returns are due April 15. Further information on the child-care deductions are available in the State of California Individual Income Tax instruction booklet and in the Internal revenue Service's publication

Vet hospital project

Discussing the Veterans Administration Hospital's new psychiatrict wing are Dr. Roger Bardsley, Ph.D. chief of psychology service and Dr. Martin Halvorsen, M.D., chief of psychiatry service, in Dr. Halvorsen's new office. The new facility is located in a remodeled wing of the VA Hospital and opened in December although the formal reception for the new service was held last week. The concept behind the new wing is to create a community atmosphere for the 15-patient service and the facility includes rooms with day beds rather than traditional hospital beds.

David Funsch

Funsch hopes to face Mori

Twenty - six - year - old David Funsch hopes to capture the Republican nomination and face incumbent Democrat Floyd Mori in the 15th Assembly District election in November.

For many valley voters Funsch may not exactly be a household word, but he is not unknown to Mori — Mori taught Funsch economics at Chabot College in Hayward.

This is Funsch's attempt at elective office, and he frankly admits it wasn't his idea.

"I was approached by some Republicans about running," Funsch said, "and I agreed that if no one filed on our side by the end of the intention period, then I would run."

Funsch filed early on the last day, but to the surprise of many, so did another Hayward Republican, Robert Wirt.

"I doubt I would have agreed had I known there would be a primary," said Funsch. "But now that I'm in it, it has really stirred up my adrenalin, and I'm going to fight and win the primary."

Funsch has some experience in political battles, beginning in 1968 as a campaign worker in the Castro Valley Repubblican office.

He is currently Alameda County chairman of the Young Republicans, whose membership includes 18- to 41-year-olds.

Funsch served four years in the U.S. Marine Corps and is currently a senior in accounting at Cal State Hayward.

Funsch plans to win the primary, but admits unseating his former professor will be difficult.

"It will be rough to do," said Funsch, "but I will have fun trying."

A "Reagan '76" button pinned prominently on his chest, the lean Funsch declared, "I'm a conservative all the way down the line from national defense to law and order."

He has been appointed to the County Steering Committee for Reagan.

But Funsch said his support for Reagan would not bother Republicans who favor Ford.

He hopes to unite the YRs (Young Republicans) and the ERs (Experienced Republicans his euphemism for Republicans past the age of 41) to defeat Wirt in the primary.

And when it comes to the November election, win or lose Funsch said it would be good experience for him.

"I am going to enjoy getting people to work together," he predicted. Because, he said with a grin, "I love politics."

General plan adoption delay sought

LIVERMORE — The American Taxpayers' Union, Inc. (ATU) voted at its regular membership meeting Feb. 19 to ask the city council to delay adoption of the city's new General Plan until the new council is seated.

"Several council members refused to consider future changes to the sign ordinance, citing the forthcoming election as the reason. The same reasoning applies with far greater force to the new General Plan," wrote James Carskaddon, president of the ATU.

The ATU also pointed to the "heavy revision" the document has undergone in recent days and stated that copies of the revised plan have not been available to the public.

The council last week received a similar request from the Livermore Chamber of Commerce to delay adoption of the plan until the new council is seated after the March 2 Municipal elections.

The council, however, has set up a series of special meetings expected to start tonight to review the document in the hopes of adopting the Plan prior to March 2.

The planning commission last week concluded its revisions of the Plan and recommended adoption to the council.

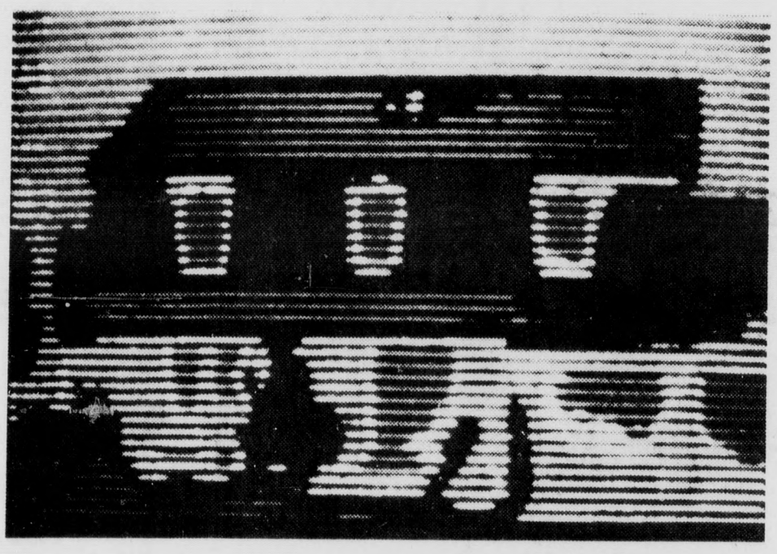
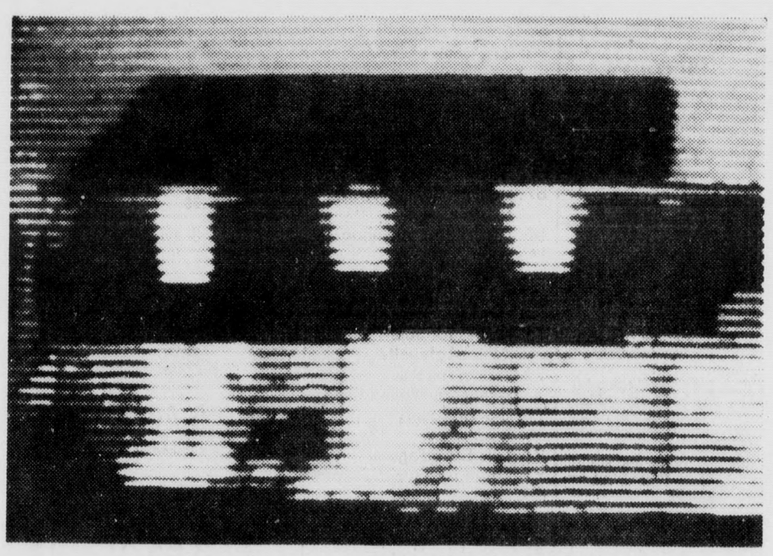
If you see the heat, maybe you'll see the light.



Gray lines on roof show heat loss from uninsulated attic.



When attic is insulated, heat loss is reduced.

You're looking at infra-red photographs, which show heat, not light. You can actually see that a lot more heat is escaping from the house on the left than from the one on the right.

The reason for this costly difference is insulation. And the worst part is, the owner of the inadequately insulated house may not even know that he's losing all that heat . . . and money.

Take the hint. If you haven't done so already, check your own attic. And do it as soon as possible.

Send for our free Insulation Booklet. It tells you, in easy-to-understand words and pictures, all you need to know about insulation. You'll find out whether your attic insulation is adequate, and if not, what to do about it and how to do it.

A few important things to bear in mind. One, just insulating an unfinished attic up to R-19, the recommended standard, can save up to 20% of the heat you use. Two, you'll enjoy greater comfort with insulation. And three, the cost of insulating an attic is probably less than you think.

For instance, if you get a qualified contractor such as a member of the Insulation Contractors Association to do it, in a typical California house it should cost about $300 to $400.

And if you do it yourself, by simply laying the material between the joists on the attic floor, you should save about one third of that amount.

With fuel prices soaring, and natural gas shortages threatening, it makes sense for each of us to save all the energy we can. And of course, saving energy means saving money.

You owe it to yourself to get the facts. What you don't know can cost you.

Blonde is between Liz and Burton

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Burton wants a quick divorce from Elizabeth Taylor so he can marry Susan Hunt, a 27-year-old British blonde he has been seen with lately, columnist Earl Wilson reported Wednesday.

Wilson, reporting in the New York Post, said that was the inside explanation of the split between the actor and actress which led to her departure from New York on Tuesday for California.

The article said Burton asked her for the divorce because he wants immediately to marry the estranged wife of British race car driver James Hunt.

Electric power rate hike looms

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The federal government has announced plans to boost by about $12 million this year the rates it charges Pacific Gas & Electric Co. for power imported from a coal-powered plant in Centralia, Wash.

The money will help hold down a 44 to 66 per cent boost in Central Valley Project hydroelectric power rates, announced for next January, a spokesman for the federal Bureau of Reclamation said Wednesday.

The PG&E, in a statement, said the proposal to boost the rates it pays for Centralia power "would require the more than 8 million people served by PG&E to pay the cost of Centralia capacity actually used by less than 800,000 customers served by California municipal preference agencies which purchase power from the CVP."

However, the PG&E did not reject the proposal out of hand, but said it "will continue to press for charges which are fair and equitable."

Over 1650 Offices Coast to Coast

"Action Warranty" is provided FREE.
Now for the first time a nationwide real estate organization provides its customers with an Action Warranty that guarantees in writing the service it has designed to sell homes FAST. CENTURY 21 brokers know from experience, gained while selling thousands upon thousands of homes each year across this nation, that when a home owner decides to sell his home, he wants to sell it FAST and at the right price. CENTURY 21 brokers know how to get that action ... FAST!

"Action Warranty" guarantees what we will do for you.
It's a bold step, putting it in writing. But we felt that customers deserved it. And we felt that we could live up to it. After all, there is no reason why anyone, when dealing with an independently owned CENTURY 21 office, should have to experience any anxieties about being forgotten, neglected, or overlooked once they have signed up to sell their home. So we put it in writing. Don't settle for less. Call the CENTURY 21 office near you for your free copy of our Action Warranty.

VMH election verdict due

LIVERMORE — The Valley Memorial Hospital Board of Directors will decide Thursday night whether to accept the results of an election recount declaring Eric Wente the winner of the Livermore seat by two votes.

A recount made Monday night showed Wente with 671 votes and incumbent Arthur Henry with 669.

The results will not be official until the board accepts the tally at its meeting.

Henry is out of town, so it is not known whether he will request a second recount.

If seated, Wente, 24, will be the youngest director ever to serve on the VMH board.

He is a member of the winemaking Wente family that has resided in the Livermore Valley since the 1880's.

A graduate of Stanford in chemistry, Wente has a Master of Food Science degree from University of California, Davis.

He is now a winemaker - chemist at Wente Brothers Winery.

Wente campaigned for the board seat on a platform of opposition to the proposed Pleasanton hospital. He favors making board members more responsive to the wishes of the VMH Association.

James Nissen, who ran without board endorsement, won the Director - at - Large seat on the board.

Dagmar Fulton, out - going VMH board chairwoman, was reelected to the Pleasanton seat. She ran unopposed.

After deciding the Wente - Henry race, the directors must elect a new chairman, vice-chairman, and secretary - treasurer for 1976.

In the past, the board vice-chairman has often succeeded to the chairmanship. But in 1975, the vice-chairman chose not to run, and the board selected veteran board member and secretary - treasurer Dagmar Fulton as chairwoman.

If the board seats Eric Wente, the immediate past vice - chairman Arthur Henry will not be on the board to succeed to the chairmanship.

The board is not likely to choose the past secretary - treasurer, Emily Schwarz, because she is a relative newcomer with only one year of experience on the board.

Only two board members with several years experience, Joseph Sladky and Ted Fairfield, have not served previously as chairman.

There is some speculation the directors may turn to one of those men to head the board in 1976.
